CUPID GETS BUSY AMONG TONOPAH YOUNG PEOPLE

Fred Steen, financial secretary of Misph lodge of Knights of Pythias and secretary of the Moose, took out a marriage license last evening and then took an auto for Goldfield where he was married this morning to Miss Josephine Burke of that city. The ceremony was witnessed by a number of friends from Tonopah who joined in wishing the newly weds a prosperous and happy career. Mr. Steen is a member of the firm of Nash & Steen who conduct the billiard parlors. He also was a successful leader on the Montana. The couple left Goldfield this morning for a honeymoon tour of southern California.

RUSH TO COALDALE ON REPORTS OF THE FINDING OF PETROLEUM

A report reaching Tonopah that an exudation of crude petroleum had been found in the shale croppings of Coal-dale district caused a rush in that direction, the first men on the ground taking up large acreages along the formation, with the later comers trying on to their preemptions. N. C. Ableman, Paddy Mooney, Al. Thacker, and others were first to reach the scene and they have more than a square mile under paper, getting the extensions to the locations made by the discoverer. Goldfield people took up about 1000 acres.

It is not yet proven that the discovery of the oil is bona fide, but reports confirming or denying the strike are expected tonight when the argonauts return from their search after the oleaginous fleece.

In this connection a report made on the Darms coal mines in the section is of interest, as well as announcement that in the district there are infusorial and diatomaceous earths that are in many localities indices of the presence of oil on the shale contact with the sands.

The coal report may be thus briefly summarized: The property is situated six miles from Blair Junction, Esmeralda county, Nevada, on the Tonopah and Goldfield railroad. It is at an altitude of 5,400 feet and about 40 miles from Tonopah. According to Prof. J. E. Spurr, the lowest formation exposed is either the Eocene or Miocene. It consists of tuffs, sandstones and coal beds, and is capped by late Tertiary lavas, ranging from rhyolite to basalt. The strata above the coal beds are made up largely of tuffs, conglomerates and unsorted gravel, capped by acidic and basic lavas, the gravel containing pebbles of basalt, granite, rhyolite and quartz.

The coal is a light bituminous and, except for the larger amount of ash, comparable with some of the high class Pennsylvania coals. It is fairly good steaming coal and an excellent gas coal.

A considerable amount of development work has been done. The No. 1 shaft has been sunk on the No. 2 seam to a depth of 280 feet. Six feet of fair coal is found just above the middle of the bed. At 320 feet the shaft enters coal again, probably the No. 3 seam. The present workings are at a depth of 480 feet at this depth Mr. Darms says that the coal is of a fine grade.

The No. 2 shaft has been sunk to a depth of 505 feet. At 428 feet the seam was encountered. A short drift was driven at this point. The miners are situated close to transportation.

CAMP OF CORTEZ IS COMING BACK

GEORGE WINGFIELD CONSIDERING OLD MINE AND INSTITUTING OPERATIONS

James V. Comerford, deputy superintendent of the 2nd district of Nevada's schools, which is comprised of Lander, White Pine and Eureka counties, spent several days of the past week in Battle Mountain in looking after the welfare of our local school. Mr. Comerford covers his district in a Ford car, says the Battle Mountain Scout, and as his duties take him far from the main lines of transportation, he becomes intimately acquainted with what is going on in the secluded nooks and corners of his district.

On this trip he came direct from Cortez here and brought information that the former Bonanza mining camp which may be of interest to this community. For many years this rich silver mine has laid dormant but Mr. Comerford brings word that this period of inactivity may soon be ended. He says that there are 12 men testing the merits of the dump's ores and it is currently rumored that George Wingfield is considering taking the old mine over and instituting extensive mining operations. With silver remaining at its present price, there would seem to be sufficient warrant for the venture and it is quite possible that the old Cortez will in the near future, resume a production of silver for which it was famous in the days of the past.

LAST WEEK FOR PAYMENT OF TAXES WITHOUT PENALTY

The second half of the taxes are due and payable at the office of the county treasurer this week. After Saturday the penalty applies as the delinquent property will be advertised for sale.

JOE KENDALL, general manager of the Goldfield Consolidated, was a visitor to Tonopah last evening.

TONOPAH MAN WINS HIS DAMAGE CASE

ERNEST E. BROWN SUSTAINED IN HIS DEMAND AGAINST THE STATE

There is trouble brewing in the industrial commission. Chairman Mullin and Commissioner Wallace had some hot words yesterday evening, and it all came about a claim of Ernest E. Brown of Tonopah before the commission for injuries sustained while in the employ of a concern which comes under the industrial insurance act. Mullin refused to pay the claim as the employer was behind in his premiums. Commissioner Wallace took the opposite view and was supported by Commissioner Lemmon. At the meeting Mullin was overruled and the claim, amounting to over $1,400, was ordered paid.

The attorney general had already given an opinion that the claim was valid, and Commissioner Wallace states that other legal opinions had been given to the same effect, but that Mullin refused to abide by any of them. The only other course open, therefore, was to vote down his rulings and have the claim paid.

MISS MARGARET SHIELDS, stenographer of the district court, left this morning for Reno where she expects to visit for sometime.

FOURTH OF JULY ONE MONTH AWAY

TONOPAH MUST DECIDE IF IT IS GOING TO HAVE THE RIGHT SORT OF CELEBRATION

The Fourth of July is only a scant month away and no time should be lost in getting to work on preparation for the due observance. At no time in its history has the camp been more prosperous or the outlook more auspicious so it is certain that citizens will respond freely to the call for contributions. Unless prompt action is taken to provide features to entertain Tonopah folks at home they will arrange to go where the attraction is strongest. If the matter of a celebration is taken up promptly the day can be made to cheer the hearts of the little ones and to furnish an endless round of pleasure to the grown-ups.

Special attractions cannot be had at the last minute as managers of desirable features do not wait until the eleventh hour before filling the bill for the Fourth of July.

GREAT ARCH FOR SALT LAKE ROAD

ONE OF THE LARGEST IN THE WORLD IS TO BE BUILT IN NEVADA

One of the largest single concrete arches in the world, weighing 11,000 tons and costing $60,000, will be built by the Salt Lake Railroad at the intersection of Sawmill Canyon and Clover Creek, Nevada.

Work will begin shortly. The arch will be 93 feet long, 23 feet high and extend 18 feet below the stream bed, and will be capable of sustaining 73,680 tons. The big arch will grow beneath and around the trestle now in use there, and as it changes from wet concrete into solid artificial stone, the trestles will be removed while traffic will be carried on all the time.

Arthur Maguire, chief engineer, in whose office the arch was designed will use 165,000 feet of lumber to keep the concrete from touching the trestles.—Clark County Review.

WARNING TO YOUTHS PUT IN POSTOFFICE

PARENTS SHOULD SEE THAT THEIR OFFSPRING DO NOT RUN RISK OF ARREST

Postmaster J. J. McQuillan has posted in the lobby of the post office notices calling attention to the existence of stringent laws governing the abuse of postal privileges. The post office has been re-decorated and placed in a most creditable shape that should be continued for some time if parents will only curb the destructive propensities of the average youth to mar and destroy that which he cannot take away. Last week Postoffice Inspector Means paid a visit to the Tonopah office and told the postmaster to enforce the law, which prohibits any one from defiling the walls or furniture by marking or scratching the same. This is not a town ordinance which can be defied, but a federal statute that is subject to enforcement.

FOR SALE AT A BARGAIN

Wilson's Resort, better known as Frazier's Wells, is offered for sale. This is a snap. The property consists of eight mining claims, 20 acres to claim, three room furnished house with screened porch, fine cellar, water in house, dance hall, piano and phonograph, saloon and fixtures, 1 and 2 room cabins, icehouse, 5 tons ice, barn, chicken and turkey houses, several head goats and sheep, chickens, turkeys, geese, rabbits, pheasants, etc. Four wells, plenty of water, gasoline engine and pump, storage tanks, wagons, blacksmith shop. On the grounds are fruit trees and berry bushes of all kinds. This is a fine range for stock, seven miles from Tonopah. See owner, Fred Wilson, or call at Bonanza office. Adv. J16

SPLITTING COMEDY AT THE BUTLER

HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS WILL ENTERTAIN THEIR FRIENDS TOMORROW

The class of 1916, T. H. S., offer an evening of rare fun in their fine three-act comedy, "The Schoolmistress," which they will present at the Butler theater on tomorrow evening. There is no modern play that excels "The Schoolmistress" in sheer jollity, and those qualities that wake the laugh.

The situation is as follows: Miss Caroline Dyott, head of Volumnia College, has married a bankrupt aristocrat, the Honorable Vere Queckett, secretly, for he is ashamed of her profession. Unknown to him she ekes out their income by singing in comic opera. She being absent, Queckett invites some old cronies to supper at his "bachelor diggings." At this stage party there is a sudden irruption of girls, and a very young married couple, Peggy, whom Miss Dyott left in charge of the College, had planned that Queckett's party should be the means of bringing together her schoolfellow, Dinah Gankling and the youthful Panlover, cruelly separated immediately after elopement, by order of stern Admiral Rankling. When the admiral returned after a long absence and meets his daughter at the party, though he does not recognize her, the Honorable Vere's troubles begin.

Some especially amusing features are the supper, which by mistake everybody has been warned not to eat—the Admiral's speech—the dance—the burning of Volumnia College—the jealousy of Panlover—the pitfalls that beset Queckett everywhere—and the spectacular appearance of Miss Dyott as queen of the ballet.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION FOR EDNA CLEARY

A delightful children's party was given last night at the home of little Edna Cleary. The affair was in celebration of Edna's eleventh birthday and a number of her young friends planned a surprise. When Mrs. Cleary made the discovery she planned to help the little folks have a good time and served a delicious supper. The table decorations were most artistic, the lights of the candles and pretty flowers making an harmonious whole. Many beautiful gifts were received by the little lady in whose honor the affair was given. Those who attended were: Gertrude Hall, Margaret Kennedy, Josephine Kennedy, Dorothy Fottler, Mildred March, Vernie Cleary, Rita McVeigh, Gladys Irons, Margaret Irons, Irene Farrell, Ethel Farrell, "Angle" Bryon, Ed. Malley, Francis Harrington, Valentine Toland, Donald Toland, Tom Connors and the hosts.

BUTLER THEATER

The program at the Butler this evening will consist of a Mutual masterpiece entitled, "The Reclamation," featuring Winnifred Greenwood and Franklin Ritchie. The story deals with a conflict between the small rancher and the powerful monopoly seeking to control the irrigation system and is powerfully portrayed in this thrilling drama. Louise, a rancher's daughter, is in the employ of Powell, trust representative. Powell has strong moral principles but are submerged in his anxiety to serve his masters. The quiet and well-bred girl strangely attracts the man and at length she comes to exercise a peculiar fascination over him. Under her influence he comes to see the justice of the ranchers' position and he goes to their side. The would-be monopolists decide to take the law into their own hands and plan to blow up the dam. The ranchers prepare to resist by force. There is a clash of guns and men. The fuse to the dynamite bomb has been lighted but Powell, at the risk of his life, destroys the fuse and saves the day. Winnifred Greenwood never appeared to better advantage than in the role of the rancher's daughter, who is torn between loyalty to her father, and love for her sweetheart, while Frank Ritchie scores effectively as a strong man who becomes a power for good through the influence of a noble woman. The preliminary reel will be Pathe Weekly.

Tomorrow, there will be no picture show, either afternoon or evening, as the Butler will be turned over to the high school students for their play tomorrow night, which starts at 8 p. m.
